The current global economic crisis can drive our personal fears about money and success to new unimaginable heights. These fears are often further fueled by our own subconscious and other strong personal forces. This can lead to professional and business failure, while we work ourselves to exhaustion with decreasing financial success along with the loss of our professional bearings. Often we try and take comfort in the view that it is just the result of bad luck or wrong timing, and view ourselves as victims of external forces we cannot control. We may turn outward in vain in search of good advice from others or other “remedies” for our situation.

Instead, it is time to look deeper, below the surface:

1. Beliefs – Just as blood is an important liquid in our physical bodies, money is a special liquid within the larger social organism. Our personal relationship to money is not only shaped by conscious thoughts but by unconscious beliefs and metaphysical ideas. Although we might use positive thinking and strong affirmations, underneath there are still deep rooted forces constantly undermining our efforts. Using the method of Context Work (H.v.Osten) we have an effective tool to catch the sabotaging “beings” in the muddy waters of our subconscious, to then clear the waters and implant new beneficial life. After completing this strenuous procedure new affirmations can be put into place successfully, particularly when anchored in our energy system by use of the Meridian Tapping Technique.
2. Existential Fears and Traumatic Blockages – Our economic existence is often deeply intertwined with our existence per se. There may be reasons that we subconsciously feel as if we have no right to exist or are unworthy to exist. These deep ingrained convictions often stem from early traumas (such as the trauma of experiencing a difficult birth). Utilizing different methods to work on these traumas such as Trauma Constellations and Systemic Trance Work (STBs), we can help release these fears and blockages.
3. Systemic Entanglements – Family ties and entanglements, passed down through generations and in many ways closely related to the negative beliefs, fears and blockages discussed above, are often directly connected to the failures, misfortunes or lack of success in our lives. We are neither willing nor able to move forward as long as our ancestors’ suffering is within us. Thus, the desire to be financially and professionally successful is constantly sabotaged by our continuing entanglements. Systemic Constellations Work can bring these entanglements that work deeply in the family soul to light and change them into positive love and life forces, opening the way toward personal success in life and business.
